• LA MAISON PROUST •

The Maisons Particuliers Collection consists of hotels designed as elegant mansions. Confidential and intimate, they reflect the spirit and soul of Paris. Privileging refined luxury over ostentatious, the houses invite to an experience of an extraordinary home, surrounded by the benevolent presence of a service that combines discretion and discernment. Maison Proust belongs to the Collection Maisons Particuliers.

The Maison Proust takes up all the codes that made the success of the Maison Souquet, choosing this time to pay tribute to Marcel Proust.

Brilliant decorator, Jacques Garcia signs the decoration of the Maison Proust. Considered one of the greatest writers of the 20th century, the following generations put the author on a pedestal by making him a true literary myth. His masterpiece, In Search of Lost Time, takes for example the Parisian salons of the Belle Epoque, a cherished period when Paris reigned as an aesthetic and cultural master.

• LA MAISON PROUST •

The Maison Proust restores the splendor of these Parisian salons then frequented in turn by queens and kings, princesses and princes, emperors, the aristocracy of the faubourg Saint-Germain, celebrities of the world of arts or politics.

Maison Proust consists of twenty-three rooms and suites, lounges (bar, library and winter garden) and a spa.

After the opening of its doors on November 18, 2022, on the occasion of the centenary of the death of Marcel Proust, Maison Proust was recognized as an exceptional establishment and was among the winners of the 2023 Hot List of the Condé Nast Traveller, a list highlighting recent venues that raise the standards of hospitality through their unique style, ethics and quality service.

"One finds happiness only in doing what one loves with the deep tendencies of one's soul."
Marcel Proust

• LE BAR •

Capacity: 25 people seated/ 45 people cocktail

In front of a monumental fireplace decorated with atlantes, between woodwork warm colors and rich drapes enveloping secret conversations, you will have the pleasure of drinking a cocktail or tasting small delicacies and sweets, another way to extend a moment with the Duchess of Guermantes and Albertine, in their favourite settings. Au center of the bar, you can admire the watercolor Spring after Edward Manet, from the salonnière and painter Madeleine Lemaire.

“Exhaust the pleasures, it is the only wisdom; Take yourself, leave yourself, seek yourself in turn, there is nothing real but dream and love.”

Anna de Noailles

• LE JARDIN D'HIVER •

Capacity: 25 people seated/ 45 people cocktail

The Jardin d'Hiver by Maison Proust, the second living room of the House, offers a decor of subtle elegance. You can indulge in backgammon, chess or dominoes, read a book discreetly by the nearby Library or simply dream in front of the wonderful paintings, witnesses of this Proustian time illustrated by elegant and dandy of the Belle Époque. Projecting their old-fashioned shadows on the luxurious wall panels made of Cordoba leather and the gold-woven velum of the ceiling, the ornate fringed luminaires also contribute to the warm atmosphere of the place.

"To have the dream soul, at the edge of the world, sitting..."

Anna de Noailles

• LA BIBLIOTHEQUE •

Capacity: 12 people seated/ 12 people cocktail

Architectural jewel of the salons, the Rotonde Library offers hundreds of books evoking the world of Marcel Proust, around a rare handwritten letter and an original edition of the author. A marvellous work of art, its ceiling - made with gold leaf and enhanced with stars - echoes that of the Rotonde du Soleil, the Opéra Garnier, which was one of the favorite festive places of the Parisian aristocracy of the Belle Époque.

*"Reading is a friendship."
Marcel Proust*
